

Teacher's Report - 9.5.2014

I have officially started teaching Czech classes in September 2013 and I can honestly say that the progress of our students is visible, they are confident when greeting others, they can answer simple question about themselves and can describe certain common objects i.e. food, clothes and some parts of the house or classroom.

Our class is mixed as far as age and abilities of students. We have established a certain routine that we try to follow every week. Carpet session is followed by games, teaching activities and individual work, which is recorded in their books. Having a book for each student works well, because students, parents and the teacher can observe and judge the progression of the learning. These work books could be also use as a learning tool at home.

Our lessons also include traditional Czech and Slovak customs, such as painting eggs for Easter, learning a variety of traditional songs and national poems. In the near future we will also start preparing ourselves for next year's Multicultural Festival, where we are hoping to present our school with some dancing and songs.
